TIPS

1. REQUESTING LETTERS OF RECOMMENDATION

- Scholarship applications may require a letter of recommendation. Some might ask for it to be written by a specific member of the community and others may be up to the applicant's discretion.
 - Whom to ask? A letter of recommendation should be written by an individual that can speak to your strengths and ability to overcome challenges- someone that knows you well.
 - Teachers, counselors, employers, church leaders, and club advisors often fall into this category.
 - Applicants are unable to request recommendations from individuals who are part of the scholarship selection committee you are applying for.
 - How to ask? To request a letter of recommendation within your application, you will enter the recommender's email in the designated space titled 'Third Party Email.' Then, you will compose a personal request email. Although not required by GSCF, It is courteous to make your recommender aware that you have chosen them for this role, so that they can accept and be on the lookout for an email from the Foundation.
 - When to ask? It is standard to give your recommenders a two-week notice, so they have ample time to write the letter. Make sure to follow-up with them periodically to assure that your letter is being worked on and submitted.
 - Example? Head over to our resource library to view an example letter of recommendation request!

2. MEET ALL APPLICATION DEADLINES

- Scholarship applications will close after the assigned deadline date. Any information or applications not submitted are unable to be considered.
- Use a calendar or planner to schedule deadlines and mark dates in which you would like to request letters of recommendation by.

3. DO NOT IGNORE SMALL AWARDS

- There are tons of scholarships to apply for. After completing the eligibility quiz, you will be able to see which scholarship funds align closest with your qualifications. Do not ignore funds that tend to be given in smaller amounts- awards add up! Additionally, higher award amounts tend to increase the pool of competition.

4. DRAFT AND PROOF ESSAYS

- Many scholarships require short answer or essay responses.
- Drafting: It is helpful to draft responses as documents that are able to be saved to your computer or drive. If you are applying for multiple scholarships, prompts may be similar, and essays can be tailored to a variety of applications.
- Proofing: Check for clarity and grammatical errors by asking a trusted peer, family member, or teacher to review your essay. Make sure to do your own writing, but the editing process can be benefited with a fresh pair of eyes.

5. LET YOUR PERSONALITY SHINE

- Present what you are passionate about in a focused, thoughtful, and organized manner. Write naturally and support your ideas with specific examples. The selection committee would like to see what makes you you!

6. USE A PERSONAL EMAIL

- Use a personal email not provided to you through work or school for your account. If your employment or enrollment at that institution ends, it will be difficult to know whether or not you were awarded a scholarship or access your account.

7. DOUBLE CHECK REQUIREMENTS

- Give your application a glance before submitting to make sure you have included everything necessary and preview any uploaded documents for accuracy.

8. KEEP YOUR RESUME UPDATED

- To accurately communicate your experiences and involvement to review committees, update your resumes often. We recommend to keep your resume one to two pages in length to provide a concise report.

- What should I include on my resume? If you are stuck and not sure what to include on your resume, here are some potential ideas:
 - contact information
 - career goals
 - education/academic experience
 - awards and honors
 - societies and clubs
 - work/internship experience
 - school involvement
 - community involvement
 - volunteer experience
 - athletic achievements
 - languages
 - skills or special interests
 - church activities

Why am I having problems uploading files?

Double check that there are no symbols in the file name, the file type and size are OK, then try one or more of these suggestions:

- Sometimes the problem can be a corrupt file. Try saving a new, renamed version of the document.
- Try saving your file as a different type. For instance, if you tried to upload a (.pdf) file, try uploading the original Word or Excel version of this document. If it is a Word (.doc or .docx) or Excel (.xls or .xlsx) document, try saving it as a (.pdf) file and then uploading that version. If you scanned a document to create a (.jpg) file, convert it to a (.pdf) format instead.
- Use a different computer to do the upload.
